Dear Judge May,

I am writing on behalf of Brant Frost. I have known Mr. Frost for thirty-five years and can attest to his character during the time I have known him. Brant has helped an enormous number of individuals and organizations during the time I have known him. I believe he can still serve the community in the future. He has the attributes of generosity and can attest that he has been a help when people needed encouragement. And I will say that when I needed encouragement and was at a low point in my life Brant was always there for me as well as to so many others.

Thanks for your consideration.

Dear Judge May;

I have known Brant Frost since 1988 when we worked together on the Pat Robertson Presidential Campaign. I was a delegate to the Georgia State GOP Convention where we worked together to get Conservative Christian delegates elected to the National GOP Nominating Convention. We later worked to encourage Conservative Christians to participate in Republican Party politics and to hold candidates to the Republican Party platform over many years to the present.

Brant was also instrumental in helping me to get a mortgage loan and later a Reverse Mortgage loan when my wife [REDACTED]

I would trust him with my life. He has always been a fine, morally upright man in my eyes.

Dear Judge May:

We met Brant Frost about 34 years ago in Newnan. His family befriended us as we were a young couple and had recently had our first child. In fact, Brant and his wife had a son the same age as our son - two.

Mr. Frost was helpful to us in some business decisions. I always looked to him as a godly man of character. He was always available, and so kind - willing to minister to us at any time. His entire family was, and still is, this way. I have always counted him as a dear friend, even though we moved to Florida for 20 years. We have stayed in touch, and he has remained someone I could count on if I had a need.

He has shared with me his regret over what has happened, and seems committed to right the wrongs, and make restitution.

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter. We are praying for wisdom on your part, and that God's will be done.

Sincerely,

Pastor R. Timothy Tidwell

Dear Judge May

My name is Joshua VanDusseldorp and this letter is concerning the character of my friend Brant Frost. I first met Brant about five years ago at the Newnan C12 meeting. I am part of the Auburn group and could not make the date in Auburn that month so I had decided to visit the Newnan group. I could tell after that meeting that day that Brant was the Father figure of the group. He was soft-spoken and biblically wise. We hit it off right away and even though I was not a part of that group on a regular, I had come back and visited many times. During that time until now, Brant and I had a few business dealings, which were very pleasant, but mainly I enjoyed his company and conversation, outside of those dealings.

I had heard from my Auburn C12 group about Brant's arrest. We are not ones to gossip or chatter. I'd only heard the basic facts at first. I remember thinking that this must be impossible. I listened on and the conversation became more realistic. My next thought was and still is ,that I cannot imagine that Brant Frost, would ever intentionally cause anyone harm in anyway.

A few months later, Brant reached out to me. He briefly explained the position he was in and asked me if there was anything that I could find for him to do to provide for his family. I did not hesitate. I believe strongly that I heard a peace from God. And God had asked me to do whatever I could to be a help to Brant as he had always been a help to me. I offered Bryant a sales position in our Generac Generator department. Brant has successfully worked that position from that time to this day. Brant has a humble spirit and fit right in with our team. My team and myself love and appreciate his contribution, and I have great sorrow at the thought of him not being here with us.

When I speak to Brant about his current legal situation, he makes no excuses. I truly believe his goal always during that time was to try to reconcile and make things right. I trust him. I trust him in business, and I trust him as a friend, and a dear brother in Christ.

I would sincerely ask that you would show mercy on him

Thank you

Dear Judge May,

I have known Brant Frost since 1987 as he has shared his personal testimony at a businessmen's fellowship luncheon (NFL Luncheon, <https://www.nfl-luncheon.com/>) that I co-host. He has shared on 11/19/87, 3/26/97, 9/24/08, and 3/15/17, and has spoken of his faith and how he tries to apply that in the marketplace.

I have found Brant to be a man of deep faith in Jesus Christ who works hard to witness for Jesus and to be a man of high integrity in all that he does.

Sincerely,

Dear Judge May,

As the staff of the White House Restaurant, we have known Mr. Brant Frost for over 25 years. He comes to our restaurant almost weekly, and can always be found in the same booth with a smile on his face. During every interaction he is kind, thoughtful, always asking about our families and taking a genuine interest in each person he encounters.

Over the years Mr. Frost has shown his care not only for our staff, but the friends he brings with him on a regular basis, like Chester, and Larry before his passing. When our previous owner, Demos, passed away in 2025 Mr. Frost and Larry came to the service to pay their respects.

We are submitting this letter to ask you to please show Mr. Frost the same thoughtful consideration he has shown the people at our restaurant for 25 years.

Respectfully,

The White House Restaurant Staff

Dear Judge May

I am pleased to write this character letter in support of Mr. Brant Frost IV. I have known Brant and his family for over 10 years through the Coweta County Republican Party, as well as through our friendship outside of the political realm. I can confidently speak to his integrity, discernment, optimism, and commitment to his family and community.

Brant has consistently demonstrated strong character by treating everyone with dignity and respect, regardless of their race, financial status, political position, employment, or outward appearance. One moment that has always stayed with me occurred at a Christmas potluck dinner held at a rented facility. We were all socializing and preparing to get in line for the meal. Brant led us in prayer, and then, as everyone began lining up, he stepped out of line and invited the janitor, who had been hired by the facility, to join us.

The janitor had been standing quietly nearby. When Brant invited him to take his place in line, it was clear that the gesture deeply moved him. It was as if, in that moment, he realized he was not invisible. Later, when I sat down at a table, I noticed that this same man was seated across from Brant. He was speaking, and someone in a suit approached and interrupted to shake Brant's hand. Brant shook the man's hand briefly and then respectfully asked him to wait because he wanted to hear the janitor's story. I later learned that the person in the suit was a Senator. That moment, and many others over the years, reflected who Brant is at his core.

In my experience, Brant is a man of compassion, faith, and strong personal values. He has shown himself to be someone who cares deeply about others and about doing what is right. I respectfully ask the Court to consider my perspective on his character as you evaluate the matter before you.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Re: Character Reference for Brant Frost IV

Dear Judge May:

I am writing to offer a character reference for Edwin Brant Frost IV whom I have known for over four years as a friend. I make this statement willingly and from firsthand knowledge of his character, his family life, and his relationships in the community.

Brant is sixty-nine years old and has been married to his wife for thirty eight years. Together they have raised five wonderful children. In every setting in which I have observed him, he has been a devoted family man—present, steady, and attentive to the people in his care. His home life reflects loyalty, patience, and a consistent commitment to his wife and children and grandchild.

He is a regular church attendee. His faith is not a matter of appearance; it shows in how he treats others. He is calm and relaxed in manner, never hurried or harsh, and he is unfailingly friendly. People of all ages find him easy to approach. He listens well, speaks with courtesy, and leaves those around him more at ease than he found them.

He is also a hard worker and a good citizen. He meets his obligations, and contributes quietly to the life of the community without seeking credit. I have never known him to be dishonest, quarrelsome, or indifferent to the welfare of others. His conduct has been, in my experience, reliable and honorable.

Based on my knowledge of Brant, I believe him to be a man of good character: a faithful husband, a responsible father, a peaceful neighbor, and a person whose word and example can be trusted. I respectfully ask that this letter be given due consideration.

I am willing to discuss this reference further if that would be helpful. Thank you for your time and attention.

Sincerely,

Eugene C. Witt
